Transportation Is Hit By Steel Strike, Layoffs Coming

By J. ROBERT SHUBERT
United Press Staff Correspondent
PITTSBURGH, July 3 (U.P.)—The pile-driver economic blows of the three-day nationwide strike of 650,000 United Steelworkers hit the transportation industry today with furloughs scheduled for thousands of "noncombatant" workers. Railroads alone scheduled layoffs for upwards of 30,000 workers by the weekend. Truck, lake and driver workers also faced hard times.

Wages Are Set In Long Meet By Council

Prevailing wages were set last night in a lengthy City Council session for the construction of the natural gas system for the city of Murray.

The hearing was called after objections were raised by union leaders stationed in the Callaway County area, the council retired and decided upon what wages would be paid on the local project.

The meeting last night was held in the new electric and water system building with about 100 spectators listening in. Some difficulty has been encountered on the local gas system project because of objections raised by the Paducah union.

The hearing last night and ruling of the council is expected to clear up objections.

Work will begin this week on actual placing of gas connections to homes on 18th street according to a spokesman. At the present time anyone wishing to have a gas connection may do so by making application at either of the two local banks or at the city hall.

Lines are run up to 80 feet on the residents property, from the property line, for a fee of $5.00. This money will act as a deposit when gas is turned on. At the present time about 1,000 residents have made application for the use of natural gas.

the deadlocked contract dispute which led to the strike at 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

The union calls the company-proposed five-year, no-strike contract "inadequate." The companies call the union's demands "exorbitant."

Without Claims Toll
The strike, which has cut off 90 per cent of the nation's steel production, was already claiming its toll on these segments of the economy.

Railroads: At least 30,000 railroad workers are to be laid off by the end of this week. The Pennsylvania, a big steel hauler, began laying off 18,000 with the initial furloughs. This means 15 to 20 per cent of the force.

The Baltimore and Ohio will furlough 5,000 workers on Friday at operations from New York to St. Louis. By the weekend, Elgin, Joliet & Eastern expects to have laid off 3,000 in Chicago. A Gary steel center, the Duluth, Mesabe & Iron Range Railroad, Minnesota, is expected to lay off 2,000.

Great Lakes Shipping: Officials predicted the lake iron ore boats will be tied up at their docks in two weeks. The Pittsburgh Steamship Division of U. S. Steel, with 30 vessels, said its entire fleet would be out of service by mid-July. The Columbia Transportation Co. will dock its 21 boats after present cargoes are delivered. On Saturday, Hanna Co.—will begin laying off crews of its 10 boats.

River Transportation: The Union Barge Line Corp. of Pittsburgh expected to feel the effects of the steel strike when present commitments for its almost 300 barges are fulfilled in the next few days. U. S. government navigation Lock No. 4 on the Monongahela River above Pittsburgh reported tow traffic through the big locks has dropped as much as 80 per cent.

GRAND CANYON VILLAGE, Ariz., July 3 (U.P.)—An Air Force cadet and the corner-in-charge said today investigators discovered "positive evidence" that two super-airfighters collided in flight, before they crashed with 128 aboard in history's worst commercial aviation disaster.

The crash of the jet fighters, a B-57 and a B-56, on Saturday, July 1, at Grand Canyon Village, Ariz., was the deadliest in the history of the U. S. Air Force.

The B-57, a two-engine, high-speed fighter, was on a training mission. The B-56, a four-engine, high-speed bomber, was on a combat mission.

The B-57 was flying at an altitude of 10,000 feet. The B-56 was flying at an altitude of 15,000 feet.

The B-57 was flying in a formation with two other B-57s. The B-56 was flying alone.

New Program Will Permit Huge Projects

By THOMAS E. GISH
United Press Staff Correspondent
FRANKFORT, July 3 (U.P.)—State officials said Monday that the new federal road building program will permit a 230-million dollar road construction program in Kentucky during the next three years if the state puts up $7-million dollars.

In order to get all the federal funds the state would have to put up an average of about 19-million dollars a year, or about four-million dollars a year more than is now used to match federal road funds.

Top state highway officials, including State Highway Commissioner Bert Kiser and Frankfort Attorney Joseph J. Leary, one of Gov. A. B. Chandler's key advisers, met with federal officials Monday to discuss aspects of the program.

Newsman were not allowed to attend the meeting but Kiser and Leary discussed the money problems in detail at a press conference later. However, they did not disclose just what roads and bridges will be built or where.

For a moment it appeared that newsman would be told at least some details of the actual plans for road building. Mack Galbreath, former federal Bureau of Roads officer in Kentucky who now works for the state, started to discuss some of the details as he discussed the money problems.

Leary interrupted Galbreath, saying "We don't want to identify the projects by name."

Most of the talk then centered around money problems. Leary argued that the figures pointed to the need for approval of the proposed 100-million dollar road bond issue by Kentucky voters in the Nov. 6 election.

Galbreath, who is a consultant to Kiser and apparently will supervise the major portion of the new federal-state program, said that the state hopes to award some construction contracts this fall, and other next spring.

He said two or three years of engineering work already has been done on some of the projects. He was quick to add, however, that the state will not turn to private firms and consultants to do most of the engineering work.

Galbreath said the state has lost 100 highway engineers in the past six months and can't hire the engineers to do the work.

The new Federal Highway Act, which became law Sunday, provides new construction funds, totaling $1,370,000,000 to Kentucky during the next three years.

The figures do not include 16 million dollars allocated Kentucky by the federal government under 1952 and 1954 Congressional acts. This money is still available to the state, and must be matched by nearly 15-million dollars in state funds.

Those federal appropriations covering over ten previous years, granted under 50-50 and 60-40 federal-state matching programs, constitute a headache for the state.

The 1956 federal law provides that a state cannot permit funds available under the old laws to deliberately lapse in order to substitute the new, more favorable program.

The new federal law grants a total of $91,400,000 to Kentucky during the next three years to be matched by only $14,300,000 in state funds. Most of this comes under a nine-to-one matching formula. The money is for construction of a 649-mile system of super highways, roughly following the routes of the present U. S. Highways 60, 42, 25 and 31-W.

At first glance, it would appear

Killer Is Blasted Out Of Tree In Which He Was Hiding

By JOE DUBBIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WARREN, Ohio, July 3 (U.P.)—A 37-year-old man, charged with the slaying of two women and a young girl, was blasted out of a tree in which he was hiding today.

Wilson went on his bloody rampage June 21 when he set out to find his common-law wife, Juanita, 35, who had filed assault and battery charges against him and threatened to leave him.

When he failed to find his wife, Wilson shot to death Mrs. Hazel Batts, 22, Mrs. Geraldine Brown, 30, and 16-year-old Nancy Worthington.

Wilson set his own trap when he forced his brother-in-law, James Lawson, who was shopping with his wife Evelyn, and 13-month-old daughter, Shirli Lee, in Leavittsburg, to drive him to their home three miles away.

Shortly after they arrived Lawson was able to send his wife and daughter away with his brother, who came by to visit. The three state patrolmen arrived a little later on a tip that Wilson had been seen in the Lawson car. Wilson fled through a rear door into the woods where he was finally trapped.

Lawson told police that during the drive from the store to his home, Wilson had asked, "How many people did I kill?" He said he had only meant to kill his common-law wife, Juanita.

Vow Against Capture
After being released on bond two days before the killing, Wilson had remarked to Trumbull County Deputy Joseph Murphy that he had a pistol and would not be arrested alive again.

According to Lawson, Wilson said, "Everything was a blank after I shot Emmitt Dennison." Dennison was wounded by the killer shortly before the triple killing June 21.

Mrs. Lawson asked Wilson why he killed Nancy Worthington and the fugitive said, "I don't know." Nancy's father, Edward, joined newsmen in the death watch at St. Joseph's Hospital where the girl was mortally wounded.

Wilson wanted him to get away with him. Worthington said, "But now I'll never know why he took my little girl and why he killed her."

A Skilled Woodman
Wilson was such a skilled woodman that he eluded his searchers for 11 days. He evaded a 230-man posse last Friday and hid out in

State's Top Demo Leaders Gather For Party Convention

LOUISVILLE, July 3 (U.P.)—Kentucky's top Democratic leaders gathered today for the party's state convention, which is expected to give Gov. A. B. Chandler control of party machinery and strengthen his bid as a darkhorse candidate for the Democratic presidential convention.

The convention's 2,484 delegates are expected to confirm Chandler as a "favorite son" candidate by giving him control of the state delegation to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Today's convention was scheduled to open at 2 p.m. EDT in the Jefferson County Armory, following district conventions at Democratic City Headquarters and various hotels this morning.

The district conventions will name the Democratic State Central Executive Committee. Chandler, through control of at least six of the district conventions, is expected to oust Sen. Earle C. Clements from control of the powerful committee.

The governor also is assured control of the Credentials Committee, which will select county delegates at the state convention and decide contested delegations elected Saturday.

The state convention also will name Kentucky's Democratic presidential electors and choose a national committeeman and committeewoman.

Chandler was expected to be named national committeeman replacing former Gov. Lawrence

W. Wetherby. Mrs. William B. Ardery, wife of Circuit Judge William B. Ardery, Paris, was rumored to be the choice for national committeewoman, replacing Mrs. Susan Pollard, Lawrenceburg.

Sen. Robert Humphreys, a top Chandler adviser, was expected to be re-elected chairman of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee, and State Parks Director Mrs. Ben Kilgore, vice chairman, replacing Mrs. Elgin Morrison, Frankfort.

LI Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, who will deliver the keynote address at the convention, was expected to be named the committee's executive secretary, a $5,000 a year job held by former LI Gov. Emerson "Boo" Besouchamp.

Chandler will have some 1,300 uncommitted delegates to the state convention—more than the majority he needs to control the convention. He has 106 delegates whose election has been challenged by Clements, but probably will be able to seat them through control of the Credentials Committee.

LIFE JACKET MAY BE THE ANSWER

Kentucky Lake has already claimed several lives this year, and most probably it will claim several more before the season is over.

Many of the lives lost on the lake are due to the victim's not wearing a life preserver. A life preserver is a small item both financially and as part of lake "gear," but few items pay off more when they are actually needed.

The life of the soldier which was lost Saturday evening could have been saved had he only worn a life jacket of some kind. He was thrown from a speeding motor boat, apparently, and was most probably conscious even after he had hit the water.

If he had worn a life preserver on the Saturday afternoon outing, he could be telling his barrack mates about the trip right now.

Life preservers are highly useful when used in the right manner. They should be placed properly around the body and not used for pillows or cushions, and should not be stuffed under one end of the boat or under the seat until the time when they are needed.

We can understand adult fishermen not wearing the preservers when they are moving slowly from one fishing spot to another, but anyone speeding on the water or water skiing should by all means be wearing one.

Children should be protected with life preservers, even when the weather is hot.

An adult in a boat with several children could not save them if the boat capsized, so before the boat ever leaves the dock, the life jackets should be placed on children.

We believe the exercise of even minimum safety regulations could cut the lives lost on Kentucky Lake fifty per cent in any given season.

We don't know what the answer is, but possibly more strict patrolling by Coast Guard boats might be in order.

Muscle Men Look Rough From First Place Perch

- SPORT PARADE -

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (U.P.)—Millionaire Jack Dempsey announced today he plans to attend the December Olympic games in Australia "in order to relax and maybe sign up the best young boxer in the country."

"You need a boxer like a hole in the head," said a friend. "The 61-year-old Manassa Mauler declared, 'I'm serious I never had a fighter all of my own. There've always been other people in with me on fighters. I'd like to take an exceptionally good boy—an Olympic champion—and handle him myself.'"

Jack grinned across the table in his Broadway restaurant and added he would keep his boxer in training "most of the time," and that would give him chances to steal away for rests.

"Is he that busy?"

"I'm so busy if I were six men I couldn't do all the things people want me to do in the many enterprises I'm associated with," he said. "I'm in oil, the restaurant business, chain stores, a trade school, a deodorant factory, real estate, building a Texas coliseum, making a movie of my life, and keeping refereeing, television and speaking dates."

In Oil For Years
Since when was Dempsey in oil?

Jack appeared surprised at that question. He said he had been "dabbling" in oil for years with his close friend Bobby Manziel of Tyler, Tex., whom he described as a "multi-millionaire operator." The ex-champ emphasized "right now my big interest is oil. We've just brought in five wells down there in Marion County, Tex., out of eight holes drilled. They'll keep flowing for 30 or 40 years. And we have a meat, Manziel and associates—control 50,000 acres, not all proven of course. The outfit buys and sells leases, and trades and drills."

Jack said he and Manziel are building a coliseum at Tyler to accommodate from 16,000 to 20,000 persons. Although Tyler has a population of about 6,000, there are more than 1,000,000 living within a 100-mile radius. The coliseum will be completed next spring, he said.

No Front, Man

Since the chipper ex-champ was talking business would he break down and tell the truth about his Broadway restaurant? Does he merely "front" for it and get paid a salary by its owners?

Dempsey frowned and said, "I don't know where people get the idea I'm just a front man here. My money's in this restaurant—plenty of it. I control 50 per cent of the stock, and my partner, Jack Amiel, controls the other 50 per cent."

"Sure, the restaurant makes money. The profit for 1955 was over a hundred thousand dollars. But Amiel doesn't need the restaurant. He's worth three or four million. It's a matter of pleasure and pride with him—the same as with me. We meet our friends from everywhere, right on our own stamping grounds. And I can tell you this: There'll be a Dempsey restaurant on Broadway as long as I live."

In conclusion, Jack said he plans to take a "good rest" when he goes to Australia for the Olympic games. But any Aussie who sees Mr. Manassa resting probably can collect some sort of prize. Dempsey still has so much energy he can't stay put for three minutes.

Giardello May Get Back In Garden

NEW YORK, July 3 (U.P.)—Former middleweight contender Joey Giardello may have earned a trip back to Madison Square Garden next month by his flashy, first-round knockout of Tony Baldoni in Monday night's TV fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Unbeaten Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., boasts 23 straight victories.

Giardello, weighing 159 1/2 pounds, to Baldoni's 156 1/2, knocked out the slugger from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., at 2:46 of the first round before about 800 fans in St. Nick's.

MAY TURN PENNANT SCRAMBLE INTO CAREWALK

Klippstein Back On Beam For The Cincinnati Redlegs

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati's muscle-men looked more menacing than ever today from their first place perch in the National League race because right-handed pitching star Johnny Klippstein apparently is back on the beam.

There is a growing fear among National League managers that if the Redlegs acquire just a little more pitching they can suddenly turn the wild pennant scramble into a cake-walk. With Klippstein clicking that could be the difference.

Monday night in a showdown battle with Milwaukee for first place, Cincinnati's sluggers for the most part were silenced. The only homer was by Milwaukee's Bobby Thompson.

But Klippstein, turning in his best performance in almost a month, held Milwaukee to eight hits and struck out six including two when the Braves threatened in the ninth, and genuinely earned his 2-1 triumph.

Klippstein Outshines Spain
Gus Bell, the All-Star center fielder, drove in one of Cincinnati's runs with a single and the other scored on a fumble by third baseman Tommon after Bell had set up the rally with a single.

Klippstein, outshining Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn, hadn't won a game since June 8. Since then he had tried four previous times for his seventh victory, losing twice and being knocked out of the box the other times.

He now has a 7-4 mark. The third place Dodgers lost ground when the Giants scored a 3-2 triumph on the strength of homers by Willie Mays and Bill Sarni and run-producing extra base hits by Jackie Brandt and Bill White. Allan Worthington gained his fourth victory with relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm. The Giants moved from eighth to sixth place with the victory.

The Cubs got steady scatter-hit pitching from Warren Hacker to defeat the Cardinals, 6-3. Hacker yielded 11 hits, at least one in every inning but the eighth. Don Hoak and Gene Baker collected three hits each for the Cubs. Hal Smith hit a St. Louis homer.

Chicago Best Tigers
In the American League the White Sox utilized four Detroit errors, to score seven unearned runs, coming from behind for a 9-3 triumph that put them within 3 1/2 games of the idle top-dog Yankees. Two runs scored when usually reliable shortstop Harvey Kuenn fumbled a double play ball as Detroit led 3-1 in the seventh. Jim Rivera drove in the lead run with a sacrifice fly and five more unearned runs came over in the eighth on four singles, a walk, two sacrifices and two more errors.

The Red Sox came from behind to top the Senators 3-2 when Ted Williams touched off a two-run seventh inning rally with a double. Relief pitcher Ike Delock gained his third victory in six days and his fourth of the season.

There were no other major league games scheduled.

Has Oscar Changed Borgnine

By ALAN MOSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Has that Oscar changed Ernest Borgnine's life? His phone rings more, he's invited to fancy Hollywood parties and he gets to sing and dance in musicals now.

Borgnine's schedule, he decided today, has taken a different turn since he collected that famed gold statuette for playing the homely butcher in "Marty."

For one thing, the affable Ernie now is rubbing elbows with the glamor stars and wealthy executives at lavish dinner parties, where before he couldn't have sneaked in with the milk man. And the line "The Ernest Borgnine" is beginning to pop up in the gossip column reports of these doings.

"I'd rather stay home and read a good book," the new actor confided. "But we have some nice parties. Four years ago I never dreamed I'd be in a diamond circle — standing around at parties looking at Darryl F. Zanuck, Ginger Rogers and Raye Bana — people you heard about but who didn't know you existed."

"I don't know whether the other people had fun at the parties, but my wife and I did," he added with boyish eagerness.

Borgnine's humble statements would raise eyebrows coming from another actor, but his sincerity you can believe. He tells with frankness how one of the duties he performed with his new wealth was to buy his wife a milk coat to replace an old red one she had worn through three years of poverty.

They also had to invest in a cleaning woman — because Mrs. Borgnine is too busy on the telephone now to keep house. It would never occur to him to hire a secretary.

"We can't eat dinner for the phone calls," he said anxiously. "One day my wife checked 30 calls in one hour."

There are other disadvantages. His pastime is watering his front yard. But now the neighborhood small fry dance by and yell, "you're not supposed to be doing that—you won an Oscar."

And, unfortunately, he can't accept the flood of roles offered him.

Likes Steady Work
"I almost resent the fact I've had to give up my new-found freedom now I can't go from one picture to another," he said. "I would love to have been just a featured actor and remained that way so I could work all the time."

"Heck, Lancaster (where he's under contract) think I should only do three pictures a year or people will get tired of me."

Most of the scripts shovelled upon him were "Marty" type roles, all the way down the line. So he accepted the off beat part of portraying composer Lewis Brown in a 20th Century-Fox musical, "The Best Things in Life Are Free." Borgnine is happy that the Oscar enabled him to croon and even hunt with Gordon Macrae and Dan Dailey.

"I'm just a bathroom singer," he insisted. "I was yodel. But I got to wear a hat—and that's very different from 'Marty'."

Although Borgnine's life now includes musicals and fancy parties, he's determined his home surroundings will stay the same.

Red Minister Gets Off To Flying Start

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED T. Shepilov is getting off to a fast start as Soviet Russia's new foreign minister.

Less than two weeks after his appointment, Shepilov has lined himself up an important diplomatic tour.

It is one on which he may be able to do the Kremlin a lot of good and the United States, Great Britain and France a lot of harm. Shepilov first is going to Egypt, then on to Syria, Lebanon and Greece.

This will give him the opportunity to meddle in several situations which closely concern the Big Three western allies.

The situations include the Baghdad Defense Pact, which Egypt and most of the other Arab countries oppose, the Palestine dispute between the Arabs and Israel, the revolt against France in Algeria and the Cyprus dispute between Britain and Greece.

In Cairo, Shepilov will join in the whooping-and-bollering celebration by Egyptians of the final evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal Zone.

He also will be able to talk openly or secretly, to the Arab leaders who from their Cairo headquarters are directing the revolt against France in Algeria and fermenting new revolts in Tunisia and Morocco.

He will be able to talk over with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser the supply of arms by the Communist countries to Egypt, and possibly to Saudi Arabia, for use against Israel.

In Syria and Lebanon, Shepilov is expected to concentrate on Palestine.

In Greece, Shepilov's job will be to try to restore good Russian relations with that country and to do as much harm as possible to Britain in view of Greek anger over Britain's refusal to give up Cyprus.

It is interesting to note that while Shepilov is in the Middle East giving the western allies the poison-tongue treatment, Gen. Nathan S. Twining, chief of staff of the United States Air Force, will be in Moscow getting the sweetness and light treatment from Soviet military leaders.

Shepilov's tour helps to explain why, at this time, he was named to succeed Vyacheslav M. Molotov as foreign minister.

Molotov is an old-school diplomatist, who preferred to do as much of his work as possible in his own office. With his coldly skillful personality, he was not much of a grand-tour type. At 66, with 17 years of big-time diplomacy behind him, he evidently felt he had done enough travelling.

Death Trio Lurks On Highways

NEW YORK — The channel swim

Jackie Gleason set up a special gym at a house in Westchester County, N. Y., in an effort to knock off 60 pounds before his new fall show goes on the air.

Jackie also is doing some heavy road work and swimming in a private pool.

Arthur Godfrey lost another member of his crew when David Rich, director of "Talent Scouts," moved to Columbia Pictures as a director on July 30. Rich has a stage show since September, 1949.

The Ernie Kovacs family, which moves into Sidi-Casars, NBC-TV spot this Monday evening, suffered a couple of casualties last week-end. Edie Adams, Ernie's wife, picked up a severe sunburn in Cuba and Rex Lardner, one of his writers, split his head open while diving into shallow water.

We may be in for a good old fashioned hair-pull this July 22 on ABC-TV's "College Press Conference."

That's the date an all-girl panel will throw questions at Bertha Atkins, chairman of the woman's division of the GOP, and Katie Loucheim, her counterpart with the Democrats.

Hottest rumor along TV row centers around President Bob Sar-noff of NBC. The report has it that Bob, son of RCA's General David Sarnoff, will be transferred to a higher post in the RCA hierarchy.

Larry Blyden, who stars in CBS-TV's new "Joe and Mabel" filmed series, must have expected those awful reviews the show got — he and his wife, Carol Hancy, took off before the show for a vacation at Cape Cod.

ABC-TV has decided to relegate "TV Reader's Digest" to the graveyard after July 9. NBC-TV is giving the ax to "Big Town" and has decided to substitute a new series, "Impact," for "Medic" next season.

Ed Sullivan is beginning to turn the heat on Steve Allen—he forced Louis Armstrong to cancel his scheduled appearance on the Allen show this Sunday. Armstrong, who did a brief bit on Sullivan's hour last Sunday, had a standard Sullivan contract which barred appearances on other shows two weeks before or after his Sullivan appearance.

The Susannah Wesley Circle held its organizational meeting for the new church year on Thursday, June 28, at the First Methodist Church in Paris, Tenn.

Other officers are Mrs. Henry Russell of Fulton, vice-president; Mrs. J. M. Sykes of Paris, secretary; Mrs. J. B. Wheatley of Fulton, treasurer; Mrs. R. L. Smith of Fulton, corresponding secretary.

The committeemen from Murray are Mrs. E. W. Maxedon, transportation, and Mrs. John Pugh, publicity.

The officers were presented and installed at the meeting Thursday. The new "Susannah" and recognition of those who were in the district last year were introduced.

Rev. H. J. Burkett of Dyersburg, Tenn., was the speaker for the inspirational talk heard by the ministers and the Susannah group. Luncheon was served in the dining hall of the church. Those from Calloway County attending were Mrs. Lyles, Mrs. J. E. James, Mrs. Maxedon, and Mrs. Pugh, all of Murray, and Mrs. C. A. Dickerson of Hazel.

Others from the county who are members are Mrs. Hoyt Owen, Mrs. Bill Edwards, Mrs. E. A. Tucker, and Mrs. O. C. Wraith, all of Murray, and Mrs. O. E. Roseberry of Kirksey.

Miss Peggy Moncier and Bobby Dowdy Married in Church Ceremony At Bristol

Mrs. Bobby Gene Dowdy

Miss Peggy Moncier and Bobby Gene Dowdy were married Saturday, June 16, at seven o'clock in the evening in the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church, Bristol, Tenn., with the Rev. Raymond Smith performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Moncier, 903 Tremont Avenue, Bristol, Tenn., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dowdy of Murray.

Tall branching candelabras with white flowers, a background of tropical greenery, and palms surrounded with baskets of white gladioli, snapdragons, and ferns were the church decorations.

James Helton, organist, played "Largo" by Handel, "I Love Thee" by Grieg, "Through the Years" by Youmans, and "Clair de Lune" by Debussy preceding the ceremony. The vocalist, Mrs. Jackie Shoemaker, sang "I Love You Truly" by Bond, and "Because" by Altheimer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white chapel length dress of Chastity lace over tulle styled with a sweetheart neckline and a full skirt ending in a slight train. The wedding finger-tipped veil, edged in lace, hung from a pearl tiara. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid with satin streamers. She wore a single strand of seed pearls and matching earrings.

Mrs. Donald Anderson, was the matron of honor. She wore an aqua embroidered organza dress styled with an off shoulder neckline and full skirt. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and pastel summer flowers with streamers of satin ribbons.

Donald Dowdy, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. The ushers were Johnny Shoemaker and Norman Smith, both of Bristol.

A reception was given at the home of the bride. The decorations were arrangements of spring flowers with wedding bells and candles. Assisting in serving were Mrs. W. A. Stephenson, Miss Patsy Moncier, and Mrs. John Moncier.

For traveling for their wedding trip the bride chose to wear a pale blue shantung dress, sheath in style, a wide brim hat, white accessories, and the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

The couple will live at 1003 Tremont Avenue, Bristol, Tenn. Mrs. Dowdy is a graduate of Tennessee High School and is employed at the Dominion National Bank. Mr. Dowdy graduated from Murray High School, attended Murray State College for two years, and graduated from the University of Kentucky. He is employed as an engineer for Sperry-Farmington, Bristol.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dowdy of Murray; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dowdy of St. Louis, Mo.; J. C. Moncier and son, Marty, and Herbert Moncier of Knoxville, Tenn.

Prevention Means More Nylon Wear

EAST LANSING, Mich. —

Get more mileage from your hosiery by giving it proper care. Keep stockings in a smooth container, with each pair separate, advises Cecilia Rouch of Michigan State University's textiles department. Lined hosiery boxes prevent snagging. Rinse new stockings before wearing, and wash them after each day's wear. This helps hosiery to keep its shape and prevents damage from perspiration.

Worn shoe linings, rough edges on shoes or shoe buckles play havoc with hose. If you find a snag before it becomes a run, pull the thread inside where it's less likely to catch. Sometimes you can keep a small hole from growing by mending it with yarn raveled from a worn stocking. Keep a few such ravelings rolled on a spool in your mending basket.

Good Secretary Is Keeper of Secrets

CHICAGO — A business executive has described a good secretary as a girl who never laughs except at herself or with her boss.

And she should have a large streak of humility in her make-up.

Wilbert E. Scheer, personnel director of the Blue Shield organization, told what it takes to be a good secretary at a high school panel on secretarial work.

"A private secretary is really a keeper of secrets," he said. "She earns the title only when she has learned to exercise initiative, judgment, imagination, and tact."

"Your job is to make your boss' job easier. At the end of a day you're exhausted. You've been polite all day. But you wouldn't change places with a queen when he smiles and says 'Thank you, Miss Jones.'"

Junior's Toothache Blamed On Mamma

CHICAGO — Parents too often take a defeatist attitude toward dental disorders in children, the president of the American Dental Association says.

Dr. Bernard C. Kingsbury of San Francisco said much of the toll taken by dental disease among children is brought on by well-intentioned but poorly informed parents.

"It is an unhappy fact that many parents today accept dental disease in their children as unpleasant but unavoidable," Kingsbury said.

"Nothing could be further from reality. Never before has the dental profession been possessed of so many effective weapons for prevention of disease."

Kingsbury said parents could help start their children toward a lifetime of sound dental health by:

1. Reducing consumption of sweets, particularly between meals.

2. Urging proper use of the toothbrush immediately after eating — particularly after eating sweets.

3. Providing early dental care to prevent development of more serious tooth defects.

4. Urging fluoridation of public water supplies — "a safe, economical and effective way of reducing the rate of dental decay."

Grandma Can Grow Old Gracefully

DALLAS, Tex. — New gadgets enable grandma to grow old more gracefully, says Mrs. France Long of Atlanta, Ga., president of the National Federation of Grandmothers Clubs of America.

Mrs. Long was one of the honor guests at a two-day meeting of the Grandmothers Clubs of Texas.

"The new gadgets gave wear and tear and leave grandma more alert for such things as attending lectures or musicals or meeting with friends," Mrs. Long said.

Mrs. A. F. Doran Hostess For Meet Of Circle II WSCS

Mrs. A. F. Doran opened her home on the Lynn Grove Road for the June meeting of Circle II of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church.

The program leader for the afternoon was Mrs. Claude Farmer who read the scripture from Luke 17:30-31 and made appropriate remarks. She read the poem, "The Kingdom of God Is Like A Grain of Mustard Seed."

Mrs. Farmer introduced the speaker, Miss Mattie Truesdale, who is the president of the WSCS.

"The Spirit of Christ For All of Life" is the goal of the WSCS for the next four years. She quoted Miss Carver who spoke at the recent WSCS meeting in Paducah as saying "Give me new women and I will give you a new world."

Miss Truesdale said we must reach up and grow and keep growing if we are to bear fruit; we must trust Christ every day if we grow spiritually; and we must continue to pray.

She read the poem, "We Must Seek Him In The Morning If We Want Him During The Day." She expressed the need of prayer groups for spiritual growth. Her talk was a most timely missionary message.

The chairman of the circle, Mrs. A. F. Doran, presided at the meeting. Mrs. H. E. Elliott gave the treasurer's report for the year.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Two specks on the lower right are identified as the planes horizontal and vertical stabilizers. Less than a mile away in another inaccessible spot lies the wreckage of a United Airlines DC-7 with 53 passengers and five crew. Both planes took off from Los Angeles minutes apart on Saturday and disappeared in a violent storm over Arizona. Violent winds forced cancellation of plans to use paratroopers and helicopters in search for possible survivors. United Airlines Co-pilot R. W. New Program...

that Kentucky could go ahead with that interstate program with funds on hand. The high is that the new federal law ties the interstate program in with federal primary, secondary and urban road programs.

The federal law won't permit the state to proceed with the interstate system while neglecting the primary, secondary and urban road programs.

The three-year federal appropriation for the primary, secondary and urban programs totals $45,000,000 which will have to be matched 50-50 by state funds.

During the news conference, Leary pointed out that while the federal program is designed to be carried out over a 13-year period, there is a little-known clause which would permit Kentucky to speed up and get the job done quicker.

The law permits the secretary of commerce to make advanced payments to states which have the plans done and the money ready to go ahead with construction.

This provision, coupled with passage of the 100-million dollar state road bond issue, would permit Kentucky to finish a major portion of the construction in the next few years, Leary said.

Passage of the bond issue also would permit the state to divert the construction funds which otherwise would be required to match federal funds, Leary added.
